

In regard to the possibility of LPFM stations taking over many of the FM translator stations, I would like to register my objection. The only station I listen to is K-LOVE, which is a nationally broadcast station, and the only station in my area that I know of that plays contemporary Christian music. K-LOVE has a positive impact on my family, as I can allow my children to listen to it without worrying that they might hear something they shouldn't. It is also a positive impact on our community, providing family-friendly programming that promotes positive values. I know I would not listen to any LPFM station which might replace K-LOVE, unless it happened to be a high-quality, family-friendly, contemporary Christian music station like K-LOVE. Since there appears to be no way to ensure this, I object strongly to allowing LPFM stations priority over national stations being broadcast on FM translators. Thank you for your consideration of my comments.
